About me

Hello, my name is Wiktor Wróbel and I am a Junior Frontend Developer specializing in Angular technology at Comarch. I have solid experience working with Angular, TypeScript, Node.js, REST API, SASS, RxJS, and JavaScript. I am ambitious and hard-working, always striving to hone my skills and advance my career in the technology field During my year at Comarch, I have contributed to numerous projects, delivering effective and efficient frontend solutions. I hold certifications validating my proficiency in Angular technology as well as my knowledge of the English language. I value the opportunity to learn and leverage new technologies to create innovative solutions. I believe that continuous skill improvement is key to success in the fast-paced world of technology. I am open to establishing new professional connections and career development opportunities. Feel free to reach out!
